WARSHIPS TRAIN GUNS ON HANKOW TORNADOES SWEEP MID-WEST FLOOD AREA

U. S. WILL ACT WITH POWERS IN REPRISALS FOR NANKING RIOTS

Split In Cantonese Party
Grows as Conservatives
Secede From Liberals

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 19.—The United States will act in accord with the powers in enforcing demands for reprisals for the Nanking outrages, it was learned today.

The new demands will be made direct to Eugene Chen, foreign minister of the group of Nationalists or Cantonese believed by the powers to be responsible, it was learned.

The group of Nationalists headed by General Chiang Kai-Shek, who has virtually declared war on Chen, will not be held responsible or called to account, it was learned.

The decision is the result of exchanges between this government, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy within the last 24 hours, it was learned.

This action was decided upon in principle shortly after the Shen
note arrived in which he refused to make the demands demanded by the powers in identical notes. But agreement on the measures to be adopted and the form of new demands was extremely difficult because Chen addressed different notes to each power. Each power had its own idea of how the situation should be dealt with and the views had to be reconciled into identical notes.

Throughout the exchanges the United States urged that moderate steps be taken, but that Chen should be convinced that the demands must be met.

The new note is expected to be brief in the extreme, omitting any reference to treating with Chen on the subject of concessions and a joint commission to fix responsibility for the outrages. This is because neither the United States nor the powers are inclined to "recognize" Chen to the extent of discussing treaty matters with him in the first instance, and be-

SPAN BILL WILL FACE ASSEMBLY

With the recommendation for adoption of the assembly county government committee, the toll bridge bill, extending the franchise of the American Toll Bridge company for the Carquinez straits bridge from 25 to 50 years, will now go to the floor of the assembly for final action.

The bill was fought by representatives of the ferry interests who contended that the extension of the franchise gave the county supervisors too much jurisdiction and that bridges should be subject to the control of the railway commission.

It was brought out on the other hand in the senate by speakers in favor of the new bill, that toll rates would be made less under the franchise.

day afternoon. No one was injured and slight damage was done

Local Organizations Combine to Observe National Forest Week

American Forest Week will be definitely observed in Richmond,
beginning Sunday next, April 24th,
and closing Saturday evening,
April 30th.

Under the direction of the Civic Affairs Committee of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce,
the ministers of Richmond have been asked to call attention to their parishoners to the week and its purposes.

Service clubs, women's organizations, Richmond schools, the American Legion, fraternal organizations and other associations are being enlisted in the good cause.

The service clubs are being asked to set aside a few minutes
at their luncheons the coming week for the use of an American Forest Week speaker.

Richmond schools are also asked to participate. Teachers will be asked to tell their students of the great purposes of forests; as conservers of water; as supply houses for lumber; as recreational and vacation centers; as protection for live stock grazing
and as erosion preventatives.

Climax to Richmond's participation in America Forest Week will be the presentation of one or more reels of motion pictures telling the story of the forests and their purposes and showing how every boy and girl, and every grownup can help in their preservation, at the big theatre party
arranged by the Richmond Parent Teachers' association, Mrs. C. L.
Theis, president at the Roosevelt Junior High auditorium, Friday evening, April 29th.

The proceeds of this event go to the Parent Teachers' Scholarship Fund which provides money to send worthy Richmond boys and girls through college. Originally planned as a separate and distinct feature of American Forest Week, because the scholarship benefit theatre party fell on the same evening, it was decided to combine the two events.

Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, Girl
Scouts, all organizations intensely interested in American forests and California forests in particular,
will have part on the program.
Governor C. C. Young is chairman of California's American Forest Week committee for the Central Coast region and civic and public bodies throughout this part of the state are sponsoring the week's observance.

The civic affairs committee of the chamber of commerce has undertaken to arouse interest in American Forest Week locally.
Assisting C. C. Kratzer, chairman, are J. C. Hitchcock, W. C. Dobler, A. L. Paulsen, R. T. Osborn, Nora Ashfield, Norah McNeill and Wallace Snellgrove.

FATAL BEATING LAID TO RIVAL IN LOVE DUEL

Actress, Wife Of Stage Star, Admits She Was Motive For Tragedy

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, April 19.—Dorothy Mackaye, beautiful stage star, tonight admitted that her friendship for Paul Kelly, handsome screen juvenile, was responsible for the fatal beating, which resulted in the death of her husband, Ray Raymond, musician comedy star, a native of San Francisco
early this morning.

Scarcely able to speak, Miss Mackaye made a statement to officers from her bed and declared that all of the antagonism between her husband and Kelly had its inception in her refusal to break off her acquaintance with the young film actor.

Although Miss Mackaye insisted that her affair with Kelly was "clean and noble," she admitted
there had been some talk of marrying after a separation from her husband, from whom, she said, she had decided to part.

At the same time, Kelly in the Hollywood jail, under suspicion of murder, told Detective Lieutenant Haek and Carlsen that he told Raymond that he was in love with Miss Mackaye and that a terrific fight immediately followed.

Kelly declared that he merely had acted in self-defense to save himself from the wrath of the late husband, but admitted he emerged
victor from the slugging match, which resulted in the death of the stage favorite.

Although the fatal battle took place early Saturday evening at the Raymond home in Hollywood it did not become a matter of official record until an investigation into the actor's death was begun today.

RICHMOND BID TO BIG RODEO

Richmond people are invited to attend the third annual rodeo
to be staged in Ukiah, July 2, 3, and 4, under the direction of the Covelo Rodeo Association and sponsored by the chamber of commerce and civic organizations of that section of Mendocino county.

The invitation has come to the Richmond Chamber of Commerce
from C. M. Margas, manager of the rodeo association, who writes that $50,000 is being spent to make this event an outstanding amusement and thrill feature of the year.

With improved highway conditions and the direct route sans delay offered by the new Carquinez bridge which opens on May 21,
it is expected that a large number of Richmond folk will motor to Ukiah for the big event on July 1-4, inclusive.

"Picture Wire Mama" and Her Consort Go On Trial In N. Y.

One Juror Selected Out
Of 87 to Decide Fate
Of "Sash" Murderers

By DAMON RUNYON
(By Universal Service)
LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y.,
April 19.—"Wife," phoned William E. Young, a publicity agent, to his helpmeet at noon today, "don't wait dinner for me. It looks as if I'll be away for a few months."

After which, Young returned to the courtroom in the old red brick
and gray stone
Queens county courthouse and to a gloomy contemplation of his lonely status as juror No. 1 in the trial of Mrs.
Ruth Brown Say-
der, Judd Gray, those erstwhile red-hot lovers, for the slaughter of the lady's husband, Albert Snyder.

All afternoon, Young, a sensible-looking citizen of 35, sat with his back against the wall outside the jury box, watching his fellow-Long Islanders parade through the box and probably hoping the lawyers would get together at least enough of a jury for a game of pinochle.

However, he was as all alone
as Irvin Berlin, at the time Irvin wrote that song, when court adjourned at 6 o'clock until tomorrow. You might have thought Young had snailpox, so remote and aloof from his fellow-citizens did he seem as he sat against the wall waiting for someone to join him.

Eighty seven voters and taxpayers had passed through the jurybox since the trial opened Monday morning and of this crowd Mr. Young was the sole exhibit of the genus juror with four others waiting to be examined tomorrow.

The attorneys for Mrs. Snyder exercised their right of peremp-tory challenge against four talesmen today, a total of nine for the Snyder side out of their allotment against five today, a total of six, while the state challenged three, a total of four.

Young was accepted as juror
No. 1 at 11:30 o'clock this morn-

25 KILLED, SIX COUNTIES ARE STRUCK WHILE CYCLONES RAGE

Refugee Desolation

(By Universal Service)
SPRINGFIELD, (Ill.), April 19.
—Over crippled lines of communication reports here early tonight indicated there were, at least twenty-five dead and a hundred or more injured in a series of tornadoes which tore a path northwest through central Illinois this afternoon.

Starting at the Mississippi river near Eldred and Hardin, the disturbance brought death to six Illinois counties, hitting eight communities and jumping erratically
over others.

Reports from the stricken territory are meager because of crippled communication.

The dead early reported were:
Miss Anna Keller, 25 school teacher, Centerville, in Green county;
Mober Baker, 7, and Murray Good-

AUTOMOBILE BLACKSMITHING

Probably you did not know that the modern blacksmith has changed with the times.
He no longer counts on shod-ding old hobnail or setting wagon wheels for a livelihood.
His work now is in cooperation with the garage and the automobile owner.

Automobile wheels are given the right pitch; axles are straightened; springs are repaired and replaced. In fact the Automobile Blacksmith does much the same for the automobile as he formerly did for the carriage and the wagon. See the Buyers Guide on page four.

"INNOCENTS' CLUBS" NOT SO INNOCENT

Europe has the name "innocents' clubs" for organizations people are duped into joining on some altruistic plea, but which are manipulated to advance the objectives by those gullible into affiliating with its subsidiaries, says the National Republic.

Revolutionary communists desire to disarm the United States while building up a huge military machine in Russia with an announced plan of world conquest, and we have many peace societies with high sounding names engaged in helping along.

Revolutionary communists desire to create hatred of the United States, "the last stand of capitalism" throughout the world, and we have an army of people in the United States enrolled under various banners in "admitting" to Europeans that we are "imperialists." One woman's peace society has gone so far as to print a pamphlet attacking the United States as being "imperialistic" in both English and Spanish, so that it will help along the work of creating hatred and therefore possible war for the United States in this hemisphere.

Revolutionary communists want to abolish the institution of private property, and therefore we have movements under religious auspices to destroy the "profit motive" in industry.

Revolutionary communists desire to destroy religion and therefore we have organizations under scientific names to promote materialistic conception of the origin of man.

Revolutionary communists wish to draw labor into their movement and therefore, they have "labor sports leagues" and "labor defense" organizations one of which the "International Labor Defense" is accused by the Boston Committee fathoming the defense of Sacco and Vanzetti, the communist payroll murderers of collecting several hundred thousand dollars without accounting for it to those actually in charge of the legal defense procedure.

Behind the marionettes engaged in these movements are the revolutionary radicals pulling the strings. When these various movements get what they are after, the combined result will be something to surprise the innocents, but unfortunately will involve millions of others in the consequences. As in the French and Russian revolution, a slaughter of the "innocents" will be one of the first events on the program.

With Babe Ruth getting $210,000 for three years play the average youth will be easy to convince that there is more in training for baseball than for a college professorship.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instruction. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper. Name you. City on your return envelope. Don't say "city."

THE AGE OF INNOCENCE

In 3000 answers received from a questionnaire on the instruction of children about human life and reproduction (not about sex), some 500 ballots cast by women, girls, spinsters, wives, mothers and even a few grandmothers, gave the ages at which these women had received their first knowledge about this subject. The average age was given as 11 years. The average age at which these same women received proper instruction was 18 years.

The first knowledge received by the girl aged 11 years is not nearly so bad as is that which the average boy of 9½ years receives. In nearly 200 of the 500 ballots tabulated, the woman describes the first knowledge as wholesome. But even so, in the other 300 instances the first knowledge that comes to the little girl is bad.

So where do we get that age of innocence?

Just to indicate the character of the first knowledge the girl acquires, let me briefly cite from these ballots some of the sources, as mentioned by the voters:

Schoolmates, rude, 13; girl chum, 13; schoolmates, impure stories, 8; evil stories of older children, 8; mother explained where babies come from, 12; a passing tramp, 10; father's office helper, 13; leaving writing on walls of school building, 9; whispering of visiting cousin, 9; quack doctor pamphlet, 9; vulgar woman, brutally told, 11; mother told after questions about observed life of animals, 11; girl friend told what her mother or aunt told her, 14; older sister instructed her, 12. The figures above indicate the ages at which these women received the instruction.

It is deplorable enough when little boys are given false information or obscene ideas, but it is horrible to think that so many little girls must receive bad instruction about this sacred matter several years before it occurs to their parents to give them proper instruction or to see that they get it.

One impression I get from this referendum is difficult to state here. It is that the heaviest folk seem to be the men and women who were fortunate enough as children to receive clean instruction from the first. The happiest mothers seem to be the ones who begin when daughter begins to show natural curiosity, having confidential talks, intimate little visits, "secrets" with fatherly mother to be. The fathers I envy most are the ones who are real chums with their boys and chums whose word the boys will take against the world.

A similar study made by the public health service when we were preparing for the world war indicated that the average age at which boys receive their first knowledge, good or bad, but most likely bad, was then 9½ years, and the average age at which they received proper instruction was 15½ years.

With girls the innocent age is probably considerably less illusory than it is with boys, yet this referendum seems to show that it is by no means as simple and sweet as old fashioned folk like to believe. Girls get their first sex knowledge at 11, and their proper instruction at 18. In two cases out of every five the first knowledge is wholesome; in three cases it is bad. The good knowledge comes six years too late, just as it does in the case of boys.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Golter

I know many others have written you about the same subject, as mine and you have helped them so I hope you can help me, I have had a golfer for some years.

Mrs. C.F.A.

Answer—Yes, many others have written me about the same subject, but I can do nothing for them. There is only one safe course for a victim of golter, and that is to consult your own physician and follow his advice. I am glad to send instructions regarding the prevention of golter. But only your physician can treat you safely and successfully for golter.

Socksology

I am in high school and the question arose as to whether a child should wear socks in winter, and how do the children in a tuberculosis sanatorium dress in summer and in winter.

B.L.M.

Answer—As a rule a child needs less clothing for comfort than an adult does. Whether child or adult should wear socks at any time is a question of individual preference, and it has nothing to do with health. Children in tuberculosis sanatoriums, where the bath treatment is used often play in the snow with no clothing except breeches and shoes. They find this attire comfortable enough, but the novice might not find it so comfortable until his skin has become tanned more or less.

The Laying On of Hands

Our son, aged 16, has contracted the cigar habit and he says he can't give it up. I understand you have a mental treatment which breaks this habit. Kindly forward it to me.

Answer—I advise the laying on of hands and lay them on not too gently, once daily, till the youngster decides he can give it up.

Meddling

When our baby was born there seemed to be milk in his breasts. The doctor advised camphorated oil which the nurse used every day on them. The nurse left after a week and an elderly woman took her place. She said this oil occurred and it always ceased without treatment. It did seem to stop in a little while, but now the baby is five weeks old and I notice a little hardness about the breasts and I am using the camphorated oil again.

Mrs. W.O.

Answer—The elderly woman was right. You merely prolong the trouble by meddling with it. No treatment is needed in such a case.

KING RICHARD I.

By Dr. Elliot Shoring, The Noted Historian

ONCE THE FIRST PARTY OF THE CRUSADERS WAS ACTUALLY WITHIN THE HOLY CITY AND INSIDE THE BATTLE LINES OF THE SALADIN, IT TOOK ALL OF THE LATTER'S AUTHORITY TO PROTECT THEM FROM INSULT AND INJURY AT THE HANDS OF HIS ENEMIES. THE FRIENDS AND RELATIVES OF THE FIVE THOUSAND SARACEN HOSTAGES WHOM RICHARD HAD SO CRUELLY MASSACRED AT ACRE, WERE PARTICULARLY EAGER TO BE ALLOWED TO REVENGE THEMSELVES ON THE CRUSADERS, WHOM THEY REGARDED AS INHUMAN MURDERERS. IT WAS TO THE CREDIT OF THE SALADIN THAT IN THIS CRITICAL HOUR HE STOOD FAST BY HIS AGREEMENT AND PREVENTED THE MASSACRE OF THE CRUSADERS. THE CHIVALRY OF THAT DAY WAS IN THAT HOUR PUT TO A HEAVY TEST AND IT WITHSTOOD THE STRAIN. THE CURIOSITY AND INTENSE INTEREST OF THE CRUSADERS WAS GRATIFIED BY THE WONDERS THAT THEY WITNESSED.

RICHARD RESISTED THE KEEN LONGING HE HAD TO VISIT THE HOLY CITY, TO CAPTURE WHICH HE HAD ENCOUNTERED SO MANY DANGERS AND MADE SUCH TREMENDOUS SACRIFICES. TO THE INQUIRIES OF HIS FRIENDS HE PLEADED SICKNESS, BUT IT IS PROBABLE THAT THE REAL REASON HE REFRAINED WAS THAT HIS PRIDE OF SPIRIT WOULD NOT PERMIT HIM TO VISIT. BY THE PERMISSION OF AN ENEMY, THE CITY WHICH HE HAD SET HIS HEART UPON ENTERING AS A CONQUEROR.

RICHARD WAS NOW REAPING THE HARVEST OF DULCITY IN ENGLAND THAT HE HAD SOWN WHEN HE HAD BARTERED AWAY TILES AND OFFICES FOR GOLD WITH SWORN TO PROSECUTE THE CRUSADE. VIRTUALLY, HE HAD SOLD THE SAME OFFICES TWO OR THREE TIMES, TO DIFFERENT MEN, GRANTING THEM OVERLAPPING POWERS, AND OF COURSE, QUARRELS BROKE OUT AS SOON AS HE LEFT ENGLAND. THE COUNTRY WAS IN A TURMOIL. RICHARD'S INTERESTS WERE IN EVEN GREATER DANGER IN NORMANDY, WHERE PHILIP, DESPITE SOLEMN OATHS, WAS THREATENING RICHARD'S TERRITORY.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. AT THE FACULTY MEETING

"What an unmitigated liar that girl is," spoke up Miss Algebray. "It beats me what foot stuff a girl can concoct," echoed Miss Latin.

"The idea of her making up that fairy story. She fooled us all right," responded Miss English. "I never did believe one word of her line of talk," stated Miss Mer of Fact.

All this and more too about a high school girl who had been caught. For all I know the faculty are still scandalized. "It seems that Margerie walked into school Tuesday morning all dressed in mourning and with her arm in a sling. Her classmates were all excited and the teachers all sympathetic.

"You see it was this way," said Margerie, between the intervals of heart-breaking sobs. "My sister was killed last Friday in a perfectly dreadful automobile accident."

"But what about yourself. Were you in it too?" Margerie, "I got my arm badly sprained in making a misstep from a hospital elevator."

"Were you in the hospital to see your dying sister?" "No, my mother has been there for exactly 29 days suffering from brain fever. She doesn't know that sister Julia is dead."

More sobs. In fact she cried for three days in school. In further statements to teachers and fellow students she said that she was living with her aunt and that her father didn't live with her mother or his children.

Her room teacher, kindly soul, looked up the address of the aunt and went to the house to extend sympathy and to discover how it was possible for the girl unconsciously to move her arm to fix herself when she had to be excused from all written work.

The visit was a surprise party in more ways than one. The father was home, the "aunt" was the mother, the sister suddenly had been apparently from the dead, and Margerie herself, was holding most daintily her well laden fork and aiming—most accurately for one so seriously disabled—for that aperture into which goes food and out of which passes sweet music, honeyed and ugly words, and even lies. Hence this call for the faculty meeting.

"No pupil in this school can get away with that stuff," would have been the verdict of Mr. Old Time School Man. "And she's suspended."

"You lying girl," said the Home Glad Hand of old days. "Where do you expect to go to, hatching up that story? Shame on you. Not a night out for three months, I'll teach you."

But nowadays we do things differently. Some say that we overdo finding an excuse for everything with scientific excuses where formerly we used the strap as an effective remedy. Instead of slapping the face of a delicate child with a stinger we excuse impudence by saying that it's a cardiopach case and doing without an extra cookie is sufficient punishment. Instead of saying "stealing," we speak of normal perulations of abnormal kleptomaniacs.

With a new experience indeed, for the wealthy, willful Mrs. Hammond, her first and most natural impression was one of annoyance of injured prestige.

Then suddenly it dawned upon her that here at hand was what she had been looking for all the time, through so many weary afternoons; here was what she had sought, danced in and danced out, these many months. Here was her thrill!

For she was the huntress! She, who for her white body and glorious beauty, had been hunted to satisfy the point of disgust with men. Perhaps she had not recognized herself what it was she had been seeking in the way of a thrill. She had not given it a great deal of thought. It had been an almost instinctive hunt, a haphazard diversion—entered into to kill time. But now that she was face to face with the experience, with the sensation, she knew that it was what she had been hoping to encounter.

A man—a clean, manly, wholesome man—who was not ready upon first sight of her to fawn and quiver and wheedle and chase after her. A man who in the self-sufficiency of his strength, be it spiritual or mental or physical, or better yet, all three—was not of a mind to instantly submit his manhood at her beck and call, as tribute to her beauty and money. Yes, this was her thrill. To hunt

Other people have headlines in newspapers. Other folks have their names in the society columns or in the school paper. Nobody loves me. Nobody even sees me. I am nothing.

And so to be prominent, to get the sympathy she craved, to possess the power to attract, even temporarily, the crowd, to bring her name before the teacher and pupils of this large school, Margerie had worked up out of whole cloth this tale of accident, death, illness and divorce.

This particular school lacked the scientifically trained dean, of girls who from the first day on could have handled Margerie and her story. Furthermore through merely talking to a skilled, gentle and loving mind, whether it was a teacher, mother, priest, Margerie could have had an outlet for that starving emotional life which wanted to hire a hall in which to exhibit itself.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER

No Desire to Split Family

My husband says that you take all your questions and that the musical correspondence school I want to join is a fake also. I do not think it is possible for me to make up all the questions which are in the column—anyhow I enjoy them and get a lot of good out of them.

Believing Reader.

Answer—No reason at all why I should take. I have plenty of material "coming through Uncle Sam's mail." I should soon be a "my wife" and if I had to make up questions, because I haven't brains enough to think of all the things in which people are interested. That is why I like to receive letters. They give me something to reflect on, to think out answers, and thus to broaden my own experience.

I have told my readers what I think of a good many correspondence schools in previous articles and also in "How to Analyze Correspondence Schools," stamped addressed return envelope.

Always next week. Why not now? Why put it off? Why wait to accomplish the things we just know we must until . . .

His counter play—For goodness sake, don't ask so many questions. "You lying girl," said the Home Glad Hand of old days. "Where do you expect to go to, hatching up that story? Shame on you. Not a night out for three months, I'll teach you."

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, finds with his chums, Freddy and Arch, an easy way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, to get funds to finish school, goes. At the Inn he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on—Sally, the cigarette girl. Becoming infatuated, he falls in love with her. He is attracted by the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, chum of the Inn, who eagerly goes with him.

During the two brief encores to her first dance with her Bob was making plans to get away from the captivating Mrs. Hammond. He had suddenly enjoyed the physical sensation of dancing with the gorgeous, mysterious creature, but he was alarmed by the queer sense of oppressiveness, of being entwined, that came over him in flashes when the dancing had ceased, and he had only the social contact with her.

In the dance her body pressed close to his, had felt warm and supple; firm yet gently yielding, like a young girl's body. There was none of the stiffness of maturity about Mrs. Hammond. Yet, now, when the syncope had ceased, Bob experienced a queer revulsion of feeling against that body. He felt that, quiescent, it would be cold, like a snake's.

He bowed, anxious to be off, when he had escorted her back to her table.

But Mrs. Hammond had not the faintest intention of excusing him. In fact she was not going to stir up at nothing his eagerness to leave her. It had been her lot to have others' suitors, who stuck like leeches, who carried the favor of her grudgingly bestowed partnership, who fawningly recognized the great honor and distinction entailed in a dance with her.

He bowed, anxious to be off.

Her selection had counted great guns in this roadhouse before to day.

And here was an upstart fidgeting to get away from her! Epiphany struck that she was going to signify her intention of selecting him for another dance! It was not from sheer nervousness, either; not from any sense of being overwhelmed in the presence of royalty.

It was downright independence, indifference!

A new experience indeed, for the wealthy, willful Mrs. Hammond, her first and most natural impression was one of annoyance of injured prestige.

Then suddenly it dawned upon her that here at hand was what she had been looking for all the time, through so many weary afternoons; here was what she had sought, danced in and danced out, these many months. Here was her thrill!

For she was the huntress! She, who for her white body and glorious beauty, had been hunted to satisfy the point of disgust with men. Perhaps she had not recognized herself what it was she had been seeking in the way of a thrill. She had not given it a great deal of thought. It had been an almost instinctive hunt, a haphazard diversion—entered into to kill time. But now that she was face to face with the experience, with the sensation, she knew that it was what she had been hoping to encounter.

A man—a clean, manly, wholesome man—who was not ready upon first sight of her to fawn and quiver and wheedle and chase after her. A man who in the self-sufficiency of his strength, be it spiritual or mental or physical, or better yet, all three—was not of a mind to instantly submit his manhood at her beck and call, as tribute to her beauty and money. Yes, this was her thrill. To hunt

a man!—rather than to be hunted by a man!

Suddenly the world seemed an interesting place to the pleasure-sated, wealth-arresting woman. Had she no money, had she no experience, she would have felt a primeval joy in pursuing this man. In trying to capture his interest, inflame his passion, lead him into a passionate desire to possess her. Here was a battle elemental for the girl who needed only the lure of her beautiful body and face, the tantalizing clasp of her slim hands. But, being equipped with the other advantages as well, she instantly and unconsciously tried to exert them.

Tingling, glowing, she revelled in the ecstasy of her newfound thrill. Found at last! With glowing eyes and quickened heart, with tremulous words she charged to the subtle attack.

"Why, Mr. Ward, you do seem positively anxious to desert me. Found at last! With glowing eyes and quickened heart, with tremulous words she charged to the subtle attack.

"See, there is some other woman, I suppose, with whom you would rather dance?"

"No!" Bob countered desperately. "Only—"

"Then why so many excuses? Why can't you at least go—I might say, polite—and sit down with me a moment?"

Bob stumped awkwardly into a chair, facing her. He felt defeated, chagrined. His face was flushed—he could tell from the heat in his cheeks; and that only served to add to his discomfort, because, it exposed him to the enemy.

Enemy? After all, why enemy? Wasn't Mrs. Hammond simply a lovely, lonesome lady who had signified a slight interest in him, nothing to grow panicky over, certainly not concealed, about? Would it be so terrible, he found himself questioning his finer consciousness, if Mrs. Hammond should take a definite interest in him?

But—what? That sickness which alarmed him so, that die loyalty to the ideal he had discovered in little Sally Smith, and the idealism which he had cherished as a sacred thing, were nothing more nor less than the spell this woman was weaving over him. She was hypnotizing him!

She was saying, softly, almost coyly, while she leaned her ivory elbows upon the polished table and rested a delicately moulded chin on her suppled hands. "May I call you Bob?"

And we want to be good friends, don't we—Bob?"

Bob nodded helplessly. "Yes, Ma'am!"

She laughed musically at the "Ma'am!"

"It's a long time since anyone said 'Ma'am' to me—under just these circumstances. It sounds awfully nice—awfully old-fashioned, Bob!"

Bob grinned sheepishly, and wished she would not put just that little touch of intense intimacy, express personalism, into her manner and speech. It was most disconcerting. Got a fellow like that, got his signals crossed.

"You are an old-fashioned boy, aren't you, Bob?" Somehow Mrs. Hammond found herself asking this question with an anxious catch in her voice—a vague fear that perhaps his answer would prove that she had read him wrong, that he was not the unsophisticated, wholesome boy he appeared at first blush. That his shyness was just boorishness. She hung anxiously on his answer.

Bob, for the first time, started full into her face without embarrassment as he sought to find words to express his answer. He was not a Puritan. He was honest and canny enough to appreciate how settled and silly it would seem for him to ejaculate some platitudinous answer. So he found great difficulty in framing a reply. Finally he drawled:

"A little mixture of old-fashioned and new-fashioned, I guess. I don't care much what other people want to take on life. That's their business. For my part, I want to be old-fashioned in fundamentals, in manners, but quite up to date in ideas, if you know what I mean!"

LEGACY, GIRL, AND BACHELOR, AT RICHMOND

How would you feel if you were a rich young bachelor with an ideal, and likewise a legacy, that you couldn't collect until you got married?

"Easy," you say, "I'd get married!" But you've forgotten the ideal. You are a generous young fellow who has a suspicion that all women care only for money, and you are looking for romance, for a woman who can love you, and not what you can give her. There is your ideal, and the closest you've ever approached it is by looking at the shadow of a girl on the window of a room in a cheap lodging house across the back courtyard of your home, that's as far as you've become acquainted. You've never seen her face. And then your uncle Howard, who has heard exaggerated accounts of parties in your apartment expresses his disapproval by refusing you any more money 'till you get married. And the situation is desperate. What would you have done?

BEBE DANIELS IN STAR ROLE AT CALIFORNIA

"A Kiss in a Taxi," Bebe Daniels' latest bit of Paramount hilarity, now showing at the California theatre, lives up to all expectations that this little comedy-drama has instilled into her enthusiastic admirers. Her reputation as a provoker of healthy laughter built up by a succession of screen comedies, the last of which was "Stranded in Paris," is enhanced in this funny-bone tickler, that concerns the adventures of Gnette, waitress in the Cafe Pierre, Montmartre, Paris.

Gnette is a dark-haired, dark-eyed bit of fiery femininity who besides breaking the hearts of all gentlemen, breaks glassware over their heads when they attempt to show their affection. Douglas Gilmore is cast as Lucien Camille, an artist with whom Bebe falls in love, and who receives her caresses with impunity. The plot is complicated by Gilmore's father who has a keen sense of the value of social position. Bebe's lowly station in life leads him to forbid his son's marrying her.

Other features on the same program include "Movieland," a Lupino Lane comedy; Fox's "Varieties," "International News"; and Eddie Moore, at the organ.

Last Rites Today For Vernon Pinochi

Final rites for Vernon Edwin Pinochi, five months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pinochi of Pine street, San Pablo, who passed away at the family home Monday night, will be conducted in Richmond this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will follow in Sunset View cemetery.

The child is survived by his parents, two sisters, Theresa and Ruby Rae, and a brother, Roland.

Espee Employees Get Increase In Wages

The wage increase, put into force this week by the Southern Pacific Railroad company will affect 21 employees of the company in Richmond. It was announced by L. G. Eby, local agent.

The raises, granted to members of the brotherhood of railway and steamship clerks, baggage handlers and station employees, ranged from 2 to 7 cents per hour.

DROWNED MAN IS IDENTIFIED

That the body found in San Pablo bay, between Pinole and Oleum yesterday has been identified as that of Victor Jans, 38, is now practically certain. Coroner Aubrey Wilson of Richmond, is conducting the investigation.

Jans was a cook on a Pacific Steamship company vessel and was believed to have been toppled into the bay off the Port Costa wharf. Descriptions of Jans and the body tally almost exactly, even to the tattoo marks on the forearm. The body was found four miles off shore yesterday afternoon by two fishermen, Dominick Mercurio and Frank Canepa, both of Pittsburg, who brought the remains to shore and notified Wilson.

Jans was born in Belgium on May 25, 1878, and had been at sea for 30 years. Their last record show that he left Seattle on the steamer Arab on February 6.

Captain Merx, of the ship upon which Jans cooked, came to Richmond, but expressed doubt over the identity of the body. The condition of the remains after being in the water for nearly two weeks, is believed to have made the identification difficult.

Fine Is Given Shoplifter Here

Jack Pringle, manager of the Richmond Piggy-Wiggly store at Tenth street and Macdonald avenue yesterday caught a shoplifter "red-handed."

The man was turned over to the police department and gave his name as Joe Kalamann, of the California hotel.

Pringle turned Kalamann over to Officer George Bengley, alleging that Kalamann was caught in the act of leaving the store with two cans of coffee, unpaid for, under his coat. Kalamann was fined $10 for petty larceny by Police Judge C. A. Odell.

"Crap Shooter" Is Arrested In Tulare

Sam Vaughn, who is wanted in Richmond for the shooting of Joe Renaldo in a dice game at a North Richmond house on April 9, has been taken into custody at Tulare, according to word received by the Richmond police department from Sheriff R. MacDonald of that county.

Vaughn resides at 1183 Thirty-fourth street, Oakland, and is declared to have fired six shots at Renaldo, one taking effect in his shoulder and lung. Renaldo is at the Cottage hospital recovering from the wound. The shooting started when Renaldo insisted upon returning to the house after he had been ejected in an argument over the winnings.

ing and was escorted out to lunch at the noon recess by two bailiffs, he was too great a prize to be permitted to roam at large. He was the fifty-eighth talesman examined by one or more of the eleven lawyers involved in the trial, and they couldn't seem to find a thing the matter with him, not even his health.

This matter of the health of a prospective juror in the Snyder-Gray trial seems to concern some of the attorneys no little. They asked a number of talesmen just how they felt. Perhaps the attorneys figure that a juror will need plenty of health to keep from getting pretty sick of Ruth and Henry Judd before the trial is over.

The blonde defendant today wore the same black outfit in which she was arrayed yesterday, black dress, black corset silk coat, black stockings, black hat, black bands and the state would have you believe, black heart. You might say she was in mourning, the black naturally accentuated her bloneness. Darn clever, these blondes.

Mrs. Snyder had more color in her cheeks today, a gentle drug-store glow. She seemed more chipper than on the opening day, but I have yet to see a smile cross her freezing face, or light her frosty eyes, not that you could expect her to smile under these circumstances.

She sat with her hands resting on the table in front of her, beside the pleasant-looking gray-haired matron, Mrs. Wolfex. Occasionally, she whispered to Dana Wallace, one of her attorneys, who sat with her.

She is pretty well removed from the jurybox, her once ever-loving patootie, Henry, being nearer. Between Mrs. Snyder and the jury box is the phalanx of attorneys and the tables, so all the jurors will see of her is her face and shoulders. Still, wasn't there some face that launched a thousand ships?

In the days before the night she is said to have joined her in the sash-weighting of her husband, Mrs. Snyder's normal temperament was light and airy. Her friends called her Tommy, so I am told. She loved to dance and, mayhap, sing, and perhaps have a little snifter now and then, all in good fun, you know.

Her attitude in court would suggest nothing of this spirit. She is the last person on the premises that a casual observer would pick as one whose blood might bristle on and whose feet might scuffle to the strains of some jazzy tune, such as—let us say—"Picture Wire Mama, Don't You Try to Sash-weight Me."

Henry Judd Gray, that big sash-weight lover, again sat inert, almost limp, for the greater part of the day. In fact, his inordinance is positively amazing. He can be in one position without stirring longer than an Indian on guard. I would say that he is numb. He finally stirred and sat upright long enough to write something on a pad of paper, which he handed to one of his attorneys.

I would not be vastly surprised if Henry Judd failed to hold up throughout the trial. He is a physical weakling, no doubt of that. As for his mentality, I am quite certain that if you told a man to step out into the highway and bring you back a sap, they would return dragging Henry Judd.

Two Children Found After 24 Hours

A squad of 20 officers of Richmond searched the city for nearly 24 hours and were rewarded yesterday afternoon by the capture of an elusive pair of children. The children had not returned to their homes the night before because of the fear of being punished for playing "hooky."

Frank Hafner, Jr., 12, and his sister, Isabelle, 6, are the children, residing at 524 Barrett avenue.

The services of the police were obtained by the frantic parents and the search was on. Early yesterday morning Ilene Hafner sighted the children near their home, but before she could catch them herself they had disappeared. They were found in North Richmond by Patrolman Barney Kinstrey several hours later. The children stated that they had spent the evening in the Santa Fe tracks after visiting their home in the morning.

Tex Rickard May Again Stage Title Bout Outside New York

NEW YORK, April 19.—Tex Rickard will almost be certain to hit the road again to seal his next heavyweight championship bout as a result of renewed action in the feud between Gene Tunney and James A. Farley, chairman of the New York Boxing commission.

This much is indicated in the brief statement, obviously made for the purpose, by William Muldoon, senior member of the commission, that it would be financially impossible for Rickard to stage a fight in New York, regardless of the opponent finally named to meet the champion.

"Not more than $27.50 can be charged for a seat for any contest staged in New York as long as I have anything to say about it," Muldoon said, and he drew a confirming nod from Farley.

Philadelphia looks like the spot

GENE TUNNEY

Rickard had his biggest success there with the Tunney-Dempsey fight at the gate than any of his big classics, but because he was almost entirely free from annoyance and interference by the Philadelphia population.

Rickard can charge $50 tops in Philadelphia, he can seat more customers in the Sesqui stadium than he can crowd into the Yankee stadium and Philadelphia has invited him to accept its hospitality again.

Tunney was said to have been swayed by an overpowering feeling of civic pride to fight in New York last summer among the home folks, but Rickard had no tears to shed for New York. He wouldn't rap the town, but his business heart softens toward the place that has the jack.

It was that rapid heart beat of love for the old home town that caused the real break between Tunney and Farley.

Farley says: "I don't know what ails the fellow. I did nothing to him that was not prompted by a sense of duty. And what has he got to kick about?"

Tunney, with the exception of a letter he wrote to the chairman of the commission, has been specific in the reasons for his hate, but he said that he never would fight in New York as long as the commission is constituted as it is now.

Farley did not reply other than to say: "He means me. Maybe I ought to quit for him."

So many business obstacles were placed in Rickard's way when he was trying to swing the Tunney-Dempsey fight for New York that a great many observers reached the conviction that somebody for some reason didn't want the fight in New York.

It was denied, emphatically that Albany had any hand or voice in the matter, but the commission, especially Farley, acted with such assurance that it was obvious that there wasn't much of a chance to be overruled.

The commission drove the Tunney-Dempsey fight out of New York because it ruled that Harry Willis instead of Tunney ought to be fighting for the championship.

The commission may be acting now to protect itself against ruling definitely that Dempsey cannot fight Tunney in a return bout for the title.

Rickard has been very quiet about his preference for an opponent for Tunney in the next fight, but he had dropped enough remarks and he has so many times expressed his high regard for Dempsey's fighting and drawing power that it is safe to assert that he would prefer to toss Dempsey back into the ring with the champion.

Bouthit Named Bruin Captain

(By Universal Service)
BERKELEY, April 19.—Roland Bouthit of Oakland, a brother of Tay Bouthit, outfielder with the world's champion St. Louis cards, will lead the University of California baseball team in 1928, it was announced on the campus here today.

The new Bear captain, like his brother, is a heavy hitter, leading the team last year and again this spring with an average of .375.

Roland will probably go with the team to Japan this summer.

The lads who know their baseball around the campus predict that Roland will be the next Cal champion to step into the big league.

TRIANGLE MEET SHOWS OILERS IN POOR FORM

Final score in the continuation track meet between University high, Oakland and R. U. H. S. was a black crepe for Richmond yesterday afternoon at Bushrod Park in Oakland. After leading the field for two days the locals seemed to have gone stale and did not place in the four remaining events—pole vault, high jump, discus and javelin. The final tally for University was 68, Oakland 42, Richmond 36.

This afternoon at Oakland the track teams of Berkeley, Roosevelt and the local track team, will stage a triangle meet with the locals entering the field as the favorites despite their recent apparent staleness.

The loss of Clyde Bumgarner to the Oilers is regarded as quite a blow to Richmond's hopes, but due to Roosevelt's poor showing at track meets to date the Roughriders and Berkeley will probably fight it out for second place.

Lawrence Ramey, star pole vaulter, has left the school, which means the loss of five or so points for the locals. Only once this season has Ramey failed to place first in this event, but Fred Hegar may pull the unexpected and cop the honors.

Several members of the Richmond track team were absent yesterday and consequently lost all the events. If the track stars had put in their appearance chances are that the Oilers would have stood a fair chance of landing in first place.

Coach Hill is anxious to win the meet with Roosevelt and Berkeley. A squad of fully thirty or forty track men will make the trip to Oakland tomorrow afternoon.

Berlenbach Plans To Return To Ring

NEW YORK, April 19.—Paul Berlenbach, former light heavyweight champion, who recently announced his retirement from the ring, declared today that he will again don his fight togs as a result of an appeal made by his bride, as well as his mother and sister.

"I do not want him to retire with the stigma of a knockout attached to his last fight," Paul's mother told Humbert Fugazy, promoter, who expects to have Paul fighting again some time in July. Berlenbach, here on his honeymoon, lost the title to Jack Delaney last winter.

DE MAR WINS BIG MARATHON IN FAST TIME

BOSTON, April 19.—Clarence De Mar, veteran of veteran runners this afternoon won the national marathon championship over a field of 159 hill and dale contestants from various parts of this country and Canada.

De Mar, four times marathon winner, newspaper compositor, Sunday school teacher, physical culture lecturer, World War veteran and 40 years old in June, took the lead near the starting line at Hopkinton and held it to the finish mark at the Boston Athletic Association clubhouse here.

De Mar's time for the 26 miles and 385 yards was 2:40:22 1-4. Johnny Miles, last year's winner and a youth of 21, was stricken with cramps superinduced by the heat at Natick, eight miles from the start. Miles' time last year, when he defeated Albin Stenroos, was 2:25:40 2-5. This was for 26 miles 209 yards, but the course this year was changed to the official distance made by Pheidippides, the Greek courier, in his race from the plains of Marathon to Athens in 490 B. C.

UKIAH—California Telephone & Light company's power lines to be extended five miles northward.

You'd think P.A. was on wheels!

I MEAN the way it rolls. You don't need long practice to roll a first-class cigarette with Prince Albert. You see, P.A. is crimp-cut . . . the ideal form for home-made cigarettes. It stays put in the paper. Doesn't spill all around. Ask any roll-your-owners!

So much for the convenience of Prince Albert. The big thing, after all, is the taste. The fragrance of P.A. as you roll it makes your mouth fairly water for a cigarette made with this wonderful tobacco. A fragrance that is refreshing as the breath of spring.

You light up and agree instantly that the aroma did not "over-advertise." From the first pull to the last, it is cool as a sea-breeze. Sweet as a ripe peach. Mild as a moonbeam . . . mild, yet with that full, rich tobacco body which experienced smokers demand.

Get some Prince Albert and get rolling. That's my tip. And if you want to get the biggest thrill you ever got out of a jimmy-pipe, pack it with this same wonderful tobacco. Men who were pipe-shy for years have found P.A. the answer to every pipe-problem.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P.A. is sold everywhere. And doesn't with every bit of bite and punch, was named by the Prince Albert process.

Heart Trouble Marvelously Relieved
While visiting her daughter in Oakland, Mrs. W. H. Horton of Stockton was in such great pain due to Heart Trouble that it affected her left hand. She could neither walk nor rest with the slightest comfort. All the physicians whom she consulted expressed the opinion that she had not more than ten days to live. She truly seemed to be at the point of death when she took her first package of the Fong Wan Herbs. It was cooked for her at home, and that night she had the first rest after many weeks of terrible suffering. After four weeks of the Fong Wan Herb Treatment, she was able to return to her home in Stockton. From that city she has sent the following testimonial to the Fong Wan Herb Co.

Owes Her Life to Fong Wan Herbs
Stockton, Calif., March 21, 1927.
To the Fong Wan Herb Co.: I have been a sufferer with valvular trouble of the heart for some time. I became so ill that my doctors, which were many, gave me but a week or ten days to live. I decided to try the Fong Wan Herb Co., and to the amazement of all who attended me, I was able to walk into their office after taking the Herbs one week. I have now taken them four weeks, and I not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments.

I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herbs, as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for his kindness.

3 RICHMOND CHILDREN HURT

Accidents occurring within 15 miles of each other in various sections of the city yesterday afternoon resulted in the serious injury of three Richmond children. Clinton Wallace, 8, of 283 South Eighth street, rolled from the roof of a shed in the rear of his home at 4:45 p. m. and fractured his right arm.

Bonnie Jones, aged 18 months, of Richmond Annex, sustained a severed artery in her left wrist when she fell upon her bottle, which had been smashed on the pavement. This accident happened at 4:30 p. m.

Billy Black, 4, of 203 Bissell avenue, suffered a badly mangled finger when a door closed upon the member. All three children

DAVIE MAYOR OF OAKLAND FOURTH TIME

(Continued from Page 1.) indicated the two amendments providing that city employees might expect pay from national guard and organized reserve units and for policemen were defeated.

Mrs. R. Tcherassy was hostess to members of St. Edmund's Guild at a social meeting held yesterday afternoon at her home, 629 McLaughlin avenue, Mira Vista. Card games were enjoyed during the afternoon, and refreshments were served by the hostess.

The guild will hold a business meeting on next Tuesday evening in the guild hall.

They were taken to the Emergency hospital. They were treated by Drs. U. S. Abbott and L. E. Hedges.

A cyclone struck a country school near Carrollton, Ill., shortly after noon, killing Anna Keller, the teacher, and three pupils. Two other persons are reported to have been killed. Twenty-five pupils were buried in wreckage. A number of other buildings were damaged.

The storm was severe in Chicago. Rain fell in torrents and streets were flooded. The sky was black and lights were turned on in the downtown district.

40,000 Homeless The rainfall over the middle-west today added to the flood menace in the lower Mississippi valley where 40,000 people are already homeless and numerous towns and villages inundated.

Far to the northwest a cold wave is developing that will spread over the country during the next few days. It is due to reach Chicago tonight or tomorrow. Below zero temperature was recorded in the Canadian provinces, Calgary and Edmonton reporting 4 degrees below. Snow and sleet was reported in border states.

Far down in the southwest a series of violent storms broke over the country last night and today. At Arthur City, Texas, one man was killed and ten injured. Thirty-five buildings were either razed or damaged. Two girls were drowned near Ranger, Texas.

Buildings Wrecked The cyclonic disturbances also were felt in Oklahoma and Arkansas. At Fort Worth, Ark., several buildings were damaged and telegraph and telephone wires torn down so that the city was cut off from communication for several hours.

Rain that fell over Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas and Southern Illinois has increased the flood in small streams of those states. These streams are all tributary to the Missouri and Mississippi rivers, streams already on flood rampages, breaking dykes and flooding bordering towns and villages.

It is also feared that even before the identic notes may be delivered, Chen and his communistic wing of the Nationalist party may cease to be factors. The situation is described as extremely critical in Hankow, where Chen is making his headquarters and over 40 warships have their guns trained on the city to protect their Nationals, as an outbreak seems imminent.

The situation has been further complicated by the lightning like changes and chaos in China which becomes increasingly alarming with every report.

At the time of the Nanking outrages Chen was apparently supreme. Since then his power has tottered to the point where a collapse would not be surprising, officials say. Then he dominated practically all of China from the Yellow river to the Southern bound-

AIRPLANES FOR FOREST, FIRE PATROL GIVEN

(By Universal Service) SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—Airplanes will again be available this season for forest and fire patrol in the Pacific Coast states according to advice received by Forester S. B. Shaw, of the San Francisco headquarters, United States forest service, from Chief Forester Col. Wm. B. Greeley. The war department, which last year notified the forest service that no surplus planes would be available for aerial patrol in 1927, has rescinded its former decision and now finds it possible to supply planes for this purpose.

"We are greatly pleased to learn of this splendid offer of cooperation by the war department," stated Shaw, "since this action will make possible the more adequate protection of the federal, state and private forests of the Pacific Coast from the dread menace of fire. While detailed plans for the airplane fire patrol have not yet been made by the forest service, it is probable that planes will be stationed at Glendale and Sacramento, Eugene, Ore.; and Seattle and Spokane, Wash., as in 1926. From these base protection will be given the forests of California, Oregon, Washington, Western Montana and Northern Idaho, in which are located the bulk of the fast diminishing virgin timber resources of the nation.

"Airplane patrol will be handled by the forest service largely as in former years, with the able cooperation and assistance of the air service of the army," continued the district forester. "The greatest value of these 'eyes of the forest' is not for the patrol of fixed air lanes over forested regions, but for the scouting of fires after severe lightning storms and during periods when smoke and haze obscure the forests from the ground lookout stations. Airplanes are also very valuable for the reconnaissance of going fires, in order to determine in a plane can in an hour or so cover a large fire that would take a man on foot or horseback days to travel around."

daries, almost two-thirds. Now he holds only the city of Hankow and a reign of terror exists there.

The Nationalist party, of which he was the civilian head, has broken up into groups, the most powerful of which is Conservative. This latter is most friendly to foreigners and there is grave apprehension here that to hold the entire Nationalist "government" responsible could alienate this friendship.

Ferry Company Announces New Fast Service

The new 30-minute service schedule of the Richmond San Rafael ferry company will go into effect in a little over the month, it was announced yesterday by Mose Moch, local manager. The schedule will commence immediately upon completion of the new wharf and slip on the San Rafael side of the bay. The pier has been completed 4700 feet into the bay from Point San Quentin.

The 30-minute service will be maintained daily except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, when a 20-minute service will be in effect. The regular service at the present time is 40 minutes, with 25 on Sundays and holidays.

The three steamers on the line, the City of San Rafael, the City of Richmond and the Charles Van Damme, have been thoroughly overhauled during the winter months.

Supervisors Are Asked Funds For Preventorium

MARTINEZ, April 19.—The county Public Health Association yesterday requested the Contra Costa Board of Supervisors to appropriate $6500 to establish a 15 bed unit of a preventorium which would be permanent. The preventorium would be used to care for tubercular and undernourished children.

It was pointed out by the board that $5000 of the amount asked for must necessarily be taken care of in the next budget. It is said that Shell Oil company property at Marsh Creek would be available for the establishment of the institution.

"The greatest record ever made by any automobile a wonderful car plus the world's finest gasoline and motor oil"

Harry Hartz
National Speedway Champion

5000 miles in 4909 minutes!
Five new A.A.A. World's Records

DRIVING a completely equipped Commander D model, four passenger enclosed Studebaker—absolutely stock throughout without even the bumpers removed—the same car and in the same way you would drive; using pure, undoped Richfield Gasoline and Richlube 100% pure Pennsylvania Motor Oil; Harry Hartz established five new world's records at Culver City Speedway, in what is credited as the greatest performance ever made by an automobile!

Starting Friday, April 1st, at 5:15 p. m. and concluding at 3:05 a. m., Tuesday, April 5th, the entire run was timed and supervised by the American Automobile Association who gave the total elapsed time as 81 hours, 48 minutes and 22 seconds—an average of 61.12 m. p. h. Hartz was relieved at intervals by Eddie Hearne, Louis Wilson and Ab Jenkins.

The wonderful stamina, the speed and endurance of this Studebaker, the superior quality of the gasoline and oil used, are evidenced by the fact that at the conclusion of the 5000 miles, several additional laps were made at 70 m. p. h. and that throughout this terrible test the only replacements or repairs were three grease cups, one spark plug and one punctured tire.
